Arrival in Singapore

Application for SG Arrival Card

All travellers are required to submit their SG Arrival Card via <https://eservices.ica.gov.sg/sgarrivalcard/> before arriving in Singapore 3 days prior to your date of arrival (including the date of arrival) in Singapore. Please note that the SG Arrival Card is not a visa.

Getting around Singapore

You can use your contactless debit or credit card to tap on the sensors on the buses or train.

Additionally, you will receive a smart travel EZ-Link card which will be preloaded with a credit of SGD$5.00 on the day you register at the conference. You can top up the value of the EZ-Link card at any of the MRT stations using cash and the EZ-Link card can be used to travel on the MRT trains and buses. You must tap in and out of the stations you travel to on the sensors provided.

You can also flag down a taxi at taxi stands or use the transport apps to get a taxi/car.

Additional Notes

1. Singapore is hot and humid with an average temperature of 32 Degrees Celsius with thundery showers expected in the afternoons on some days. Do remember to pack your essentials to protect yourself from the rain and especially the sun.
2. The dress code for presentations is business casual. There is no need for a suit and tie, and work shirts and bottoms with covered shoes are generally acceptable and appropriate.
3. All our museums are airconditioned, but a light jacket would suffice.
4. To support our sustainability goals, there will be no bottled water will be provided. Tap water in Singapore is portable. Do remember to bring a reusable water bottle for your use during your time in Singapore.
5. Singapore is widely connected via wifi and cashless payments are accepted at most establishments. Apple and google pay via your smart phones and smart watches are also supported.
